Social Security News

Q. My next-door neighbor told me that SSI payments are going up this year. What will the new payment amounts be?

A. Effective with July 1979, the basic Federal SSI payments are $208.20 for an eligible individual and $312.30 for an eligible couple, up from $189.40 and $284.10, respectively. The basic Federal payments increase whenever there is an automatic cost-of-living raise in social security cash benefits. SSI payments go up by the same percentage as the increase in social security benefits.

Q. I get monthly SSI payments. Next month, I am going into the hospital. Do I have to report this to social security?

A. Yes. You should notify social security promptly if you enter or leave a hospital, skilled nursing facility, nursing home, intermediate care facility, residential institution, or correctional institution. Your notice should give the name of the institution and the date you entered or were released. If you are unable to notify social security, ask someone in the institution's office to help you.

Q. My mother gets SSI payments. I know she's supposed to report any changes in her income to social security. But, do all kinds of income have to be reported?

Under SSI, income includes anything a person receives - even items that do not have to be reported for income tax purposes. Some examples are wages received as an employee; net earnings from self-employment; food, shelter and clothing; annuities and pensions; VA compensation or pension; railroad retirement benefits; unemployment insurance; rents and interest; support and alimony payments; strike pay and other union benefits; and gifts and inheritances. For more information, contact any social security office.

Q. I get monthly SSI checks because I'm disabled. A friend has offered me a part-time job doing paperwork for him. It won't pay much. Do I have to report it to social security?

A. You must notify social security immediately if you begin working while you are receiving disability benefits under either social security or SSI.

A Thought For the Gas Line: Without Nuclear, It Could Be Worse

WASHINGTON, D.C. - July 13, 1979 - Back in the Fifties, it was expected that atomic energy some day would power cars and heat homes. Except for electric heat and electric cars, this dream did not come true literally, and yet, in one sense, nuclear power today is doing both, by helping to divert oil from the production of electricity to fill more urgent needs.

Without nuclear energy, the U.S. last year might have had to burn an addition 470-million barrels of oil to make electricity. This amount of oil could be converted to at least 12-billion gallons of gasoline, a year's supply for 17-million automobiles. Nuclear power's contribution will nearly triple by 1985,as plants now under construction come into operation.

The oil burned in one year by a million-kilowatt electric-generating plant could be used instead to produce enough gasoline for about 350,000 cars, or enough heating oil for more than 400,000 homes in the northern United States. The Atomic Industrial Forum, which provided these statistics, says that for the past decade the use of nuclear and coal power have increased dramatically, thereby, reducing growth in the consumption of oil and natural gas for electric-production. Nuclear power has had the biggest percentage increase, year to year, of any fuel throughout the 1970's, rising from 1.5 percent of total electric output in 1970 to nearly 13 percent in 1978. This nuclear electricity has been cheaper than that produced by oil or coal: the average total cost to produce a kilowatt-hour of electricity in 1978 was 1.5 cents for nuclear, 2.3 cents for coal and 4.0 cents for oil.

Fireplaces are for people who have money to burn.

Most of us have a warm place in our hearts for a good old fire in the fireplace. It can really make a room look romantic, warm and cozy. But the truth is, 95% of the heat goes up in smoke. And there's nothing romantic about shivering in a draft.

We've given new warmth to an old flame

Even if you don't have money to burn, you can still enjoy your fireplace. By making it a more efficient source of heat with an attractive Virginian Fireplace Insert. The Virginian also gives you the added bonus of a convenient cooking surface!

You'll feel the difference

Our unique design allows heat to be extracted from the hottest part of the stove, the upper interior. And the side spacing provides natural convection all around the unit. So more of the heat naturally flows into the room . . . not up in smoke. Not only will you feel the difference in room temperature, you'll see the difference in your heating bill. In fact, we guarantee that the Virginian extracts more heat than any other radiant heater. See your Virginian dealer soon for a look at all three models designed to suit your heating needs. Whether you choose the fireplace insert or one of our free standing stoves, you'll get twice the heat for your dollar. And that's good to know. Unless you have money to burn.

SIX WAYS TO HELP KEEP YOUR PHONE BILL FROM LEAVING YOU SPEECHLESS.

How much your phone costs depends partly on how you use it.

So here are six easy ways you can talk up some real savings.

1. Dial it yourself and save. Direct dialed calls cost less than going through the operator.*
2. Call during off-peak calling times. Long distance rates are lower after 5 p.m. weekdays, all day Saturday and Sunday until 5 p.m.
3. Keep your calls brief. Having a clock within easy view of your phone helps.
4. Don't pay for mistakes. If you reach a wrong number, we don't want you to pay for it. Let the operator know right away, and you won't be charged.
5. Hang up on bad connections. And have the person who placed the call tell the operator. You'll be reconnected, and you won't have to pay for the interrupted time.
6. Use "800" numbers when possible. Remember that "800" numbers are toll free.

Follow these tips faithfully and your phone bill is less likely to leave you at a loss for words. Or money.

ST. LUKE'S

Sunday, July 15, at 11 a.m. at St. Luke Family Day was observed. This was a very inspiring occasion. Rev. McLaughlin was in charge. Instead of the message by Rev. McLaughlin the Rev. Henry was present as a guest and Rev. McLaughlin gave the way He (Rev. Henry) should preach. Rev. Young handled the subject, "I am that I am". He brought out the picture of Moses and the leadership of the children of Israel. The spirit was high. Rev. Alvin Jones was on the rostrum as usual and helped with the devotions. The Adult Choir gave the music. The offering was good. After the service the families ate together from the covered dish brought by all, in the dining area. This was enjoyed by all.

Rev. McLaughlin conducted the revival services at Hills Creek last week. Some of the St. Luke members attended. They also attended the Evergreen services. The St. Luke Adult Choir was guest at Hat Creek Baptist Church Friday the last for revival services.

The fifth Sunday Union will meet with the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church this time.

St. Luke homecoming will be observed August 5 and the revival will begin August 6. Rev. J. Wilson is the evangelist. We are looking forward to the invited churches to be present to conduct the prayer services. All are invited to worship and hear Rev. Wilson.

Callers in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Canada recently were Mrs. Olid Smith and her mother, Mrs. Annie Yuille and Mrs. Yuille's brother, Mr. Olden Pannell.

They also called in the home of Mrs. Grace Walker and Mrs. Ester Callaham.

Mrs. A. H. Claytor of this community had a lovely visit with her relatives in Rocky Mt., N. C. recently.

On July 1, Rev. MacLaughlin conducted regular preaching services at St. Luke's his message was "Trouble Among Circumstances and Storms of Life". Rev. L. Yuille, Rev. Jones and Rev. Randolph were on the rostrum and helped in the devotions. It was an eventful day.

One of St. Luke's members from Lynchburg, Mrs. Willie Ann Payne had the largest family group to attend Family Day at St. Luke on July 15th.

Farm Bureau Leaders From 11 Counties To Meet Tonight

One of Farm Bureau's primary functions will begin July 19th, tonight, with a meeting of county Farm Bureau leaders from eleven counties in the area.

"Policy development is the heart of Farm Bureau," said Marvin Glover, Jr., Appomattox County Farm Bureau president.

"The results of the process establish the posture of the organization at the local, state and national levels for the coming year," he said.

The meeting is designed to bring up the five most important issues from each county Farm Bureau.

All producers, members of Farm Bureau, have an opportunity to provide input into bringing up the issues and following through during the whole process.

From the county Farm Bureau, issues go to the Virginia Farm Bureau where state issues are acted on and national issues go to the American Farm Bureau for action.

"Farm Bureau members are encouraged to express their ideas and concerns through the policy development process," Glover said.

The date and location for the meeting of the county Farm Bureaus in the Southside District is July 19, 1979, tonight, at 7 p.m. at Sheldon's Restaurant in Keysville.

SACRED CONCERT PLANNED JULY 24 IN FARMVILLE

Dale Schroeder, vocal soloist, will be featured in a sacred concert at Farmville Assembly of God on Tuesday, July 24th, at 7:30 p.m.

For the past eight years Mr. Schroeder has traveled nationally and internationally presenting the 'gospel in song', and has appeared on television nationwide including a Billy Graham Christmas Special. His most recent trip overseas have taken him to Great Britain and Brazil where he ministered through song to thousands in crusades, youth conventions, and community concerts.

Mr. Schroeder has been described by the pastor of one of Richmond's largest churches as the best soloist they have ever had in their church.

Born in Stevens Point, Wisconsin, the son of a minister, Dale sang in family and church groups and won many awards for vocal excellence in high school level competition. Following graduation he traveled extensively with two gospel singing groups presenting high school assemblies and local concerts. After 1½ years Dale made a break with the groups to marry and continue his education in the field of vocal performance and sacred music. In conjunction with his studies Dale began presenting solo concerts which have developed into a full-time ministry.

Mr. Schroeder recently released his third full-length album, "This Is Joy," through American Artists recording studio located in Springfield, Missouri.

Farmville Assembly is located on Road 712 just off Route 45, two miles north of downtown Farmville.
